Listen to Ben Franklin...

This is how many companies do marketing..do you??

Is this your marketing plan?!

So what is Marketing?

- ▶ Marketing is the process of getting potential clients or customers (prospects) interested in your products and / or services.
- ▶ The key word in this definition is "process" as marketing involves researching, promoting, selling, and distributing your products or services.
- ▶ Very simply put, marketing is telling people what you do – over and over and over again.

5 REASONS YOU NEED A MARKETING PLAN!

REASON #1: MAXIMIZES YOUR MARKETING BUDGET AND ROI

REASON #2: CREATES CONSISTENCY

REASON #3: ENCOURAGES DEEPER
THOUGHT ABOUT YOUR BUSINESS AND MARKETING

REASON #4: UNIFIES YOUR TEAM

REASON #5: IMPROVES YOUR CHANCES OF ACCOMPLISHING YOUR MARKETING GOALS

MEASURE/OPTIMIZE

Measure how marketing is performing against KPI's and benchmarks. Then, optimize to improve results and performance.

SET S.M.A.R.T. GOALS

Clearly articulate what you want to achieve, how and when. How much of a commitment it will take-time, money and people?

TACTICAL PLAN

Develop a tactical implementation plan to guide who does what, when and how, as well as tools processes, budgets and best practices.

BUYER PERSONAS

Focus on who matters to you? Is it more than one type of buyer? Can you look at past customers to find buyer personas? Who are they? Where are they? What do they need? What do they want?

CHANNELS

Focus on the most effective channels to engage, educate and entertain your customers based on your SWOT, GOALS and Buyer Personas.

YOUR STORY

Your story is your messaging, visuals, people. What is your brand story saying about you to your ideal customers?

S.W.O.T. AND U.S.P.

Analyze your Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats to improve your business and better compete in your space. What is your Unique Selling Proposition?

What Are Your Business Goals? Your Marketing Goals?

Business goals – sales growth, market share, # of deals, deal size, geographical reach.

Marketing goals – leads, demos, prospects engaged, media coverage, new channels

T

Time Based

Without defining exactly what you're trying to improve, it's difficult to outline the steps you need to take to make progress. A specific goal is one that you could share with your team in 10 seconds that would clearly explain what you're trying to improve.

Not Specific:

I want to generate more leads.

Specific:

I want to generate a greater number of qualified leads from our blog for our sales team.

Specific

M

It's crucial that your goal is trackable and numeric. Many businesses simply say that they want to grow their social media following, for example, but they don't specify by how much they'd like to grow it. As soon as you attach a number to your goal, you'll be able to track exactly how far you've come since you set the goal and how far you have left until you reach it.

Measurable

Measurable: I want to grow the number of leads generated per month from our blog by 20%.

While aiming to break records can be beneficial , it's important to keep these goals realistic. If your company has historically gained 10 social media followers per month, aiming to grow your social following by 1,000 followers next month would be drastic. Don't get so discouraged by a huge goal that you lose motivation. Instead, set yourself up to succeed by creating goals that are realistic.

Attainable

Attainable Goal:

Since we generate around 100 leads per month from our blog right now, I want to grow the number of leads generated per month from our blog to 120 per month.

R

Ask yourself why you're setting the goal that you are. How is it going to contribute to the company's bottom line? Ultimately, the marketing goal you set should be tied back to business impact. If it's not, consider how you can change or adjust your initial goal.

Relevant

I want to grow the number of leads generated per month from our blog to 120 per month because our sales team finds that blog leads convert to customers at 3X the rate of leads from PPC advertising.

Time Based

The final aspect of the SMART framework is one of the most important: setting a timeline for meeting your goal. Without a timeline, you won't be able to determine whether the smaller changes you're making are keeping you on track toward achieving your ultimate goal. Setting a timeline is also key for internal alignment. When you're generating significantly more leads, for example, you'll need to make sure your sales team has the bandwidth to reach out to all of them.

I want to grow the number of leads generated per month from our blog to 120 per month because we find that blog leads convert to customers at 3X the rate of leads from PPC advertising.

WHAT'S YOUR STORY?

WHY DO YOU NEED A BRAND STORY?

A brand story sets you apart. Without one, you're just another business or commodity.

When people know your story, they care about you and connect with you.

A connection means loyalty to your services or products.

You're crafting uniqueness and scarcity and dictating the value of your company.

Customers with a connection won't only buy your products but will pass up competitors in favor of yours.

Advertising that evokes emotional responses has a greater influence on customers.

ESSENTIAL THINGS TO REMEMBER

EVERYTHING YOU DO CRAFTS YOUR STORY

Every time you communicate with your customers you're telling your story.

Be conscientious in your communications to ensure you don't damage or confuse what you've previously done.

BE CONSISTENT ACROSS ALL PLATFORMS

Confusion is the greatest danger to your brand story.

Make sure everything from your logo to your sponsorships to your ads convey who you are and why you do what you do.

ONLY TELL THE TRUTH

Telling the truth about who you are without exaggeration and fabrication is compelling and energizing to customers.

BEFORE

You are already

(A mini-company description)

The image shows the Square website's landing page for credit card acceptance. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Square logo, a 'Sell with Square' button, a 'Start Square Market' button, and a 'Sign In' button. The main content area features a background image of a person's hands holding a credit card over a Square Reader attached to an iPhone. The text on the page reads: 'Start accepting credit cards today.' followed by 'Sign up and we'll mail you a free Square Reader.' Below this are input fields for 'Email address', 'Password', and 'Confirm password', and a blue 'Get Free Card Reader' button. A rate of '2.75% per swipe, no additional fees, and next day deposits.' is displayed. At the bottom of the main section, there are logos for Visa, Mastercard, American Express, and Discover, along with the text 'Works with 100+ other Android devices.' Below the main content is a 'Let's Talk' section with a computer monitor icon and the text 'An event series that brings local businesses together. Learn more >'. At the very bottom, there is a footer with various links: Home, Testimonials, Pricing, Services, Legal, Privacy, Start Location, Jobs, Square Wallet, Square Dash, and Help Center.

Why It's Important to Look "Under the Hood" of Your Website!

Patty Ross

If you don't look at your accounting books, how do you know what you've spent, if you are spending in the right places or if you are losing money?

If you don't look at your analytics, how do you know if you're wasting time and/or money?

THERE ARE MANY HOODS TO LOOK UNDER!
